

This year, the DAY FOR LIFE has been assisted by the work of the Santa Marta Group. As an initiative of the Catholic Bishops' Conference of England and Wales, the Santa Marta Group was set up in 2014 and brings the church, the police and local community together to combat human trafficking globally.

Through a series of conferences, the Santa Marta Group has become an international alliance of leaders in Law Enforcement and the Church from around the world. The work of these 30 members has been endorsed by Pope Francis, who speaks of human trafficking as "an open wound on the body of contemporary society".

"Organized crime and the illegal trafficking of human beings choose their victims among people who today have little means of subsistence and even less hope for the future... The basic response lies in creating opportunities for integral human development"

Pope Francis

The Santa Marta Group engage with local groups, the Caritas network, and other charities. One particular partnership is with the Diocese of Westminster who run a safe house for women survivors of human trafficking.

The proceeds of the Day for Life collection to be held in parishes in England and Wales will assist projects working to fight human trafficking, as well as other life-related activities supported by the Church.
